

THE RETURN OF FOOTBALL TRASH TALK: BRADY VERSUS THE ESS EEE SEE

Oh, hai there, I am back from a very busy day at the law biz and then a long night at friend's 60th birthday party. Complete with mini Michael Buble knockoff. Dude had everything but the voice recorded, and then sang the vocals. Weird. Anyway, football is back, even if only college this weekend. But there are some important goings on in the NFL too.

I like the move by the Vikes to get Bradford. The first rounder is a large price, but Bradford is a proven NFL starting QB, who occasionally looks very good. The AZ Cards proved three years ago what happens to Super Bowl level teams when they lose their starting QB, and it wasn't pretty. The Vikes have a pretty good O-Line and Adrian Peterson. If Bradford stays healthy for the year, this could be a brilliant move. And if Bridgewater's knee is as bad as feared, he may be dicey for next year too.

Man, the Houston Cougs destroyed the Sooners. I guess it is not that big of a shock, especially as the game was in Houston. But still. Houston doesn't have the most difficult schedule, they may be in the mix late into the year. And for Bob Stoops, another one of those brain farts he has come to be known for.

UCLA has played a miserable game against Texas A&M. The Bruins have been a flaky team for a long time, maybe still are. LSU and Wisconsin on the hallowed Frozen Tundra is a pretty good game through one half, with the Badgers up 6-0; second half should be great. Alabama should dispatch the chain gang the USC Trojans are fielding this year pretty easily, as should Florida with UMass (this would be a better basketball game). Locally the Arizona Wildcats are hosting BYU in Phoenix at Cardinals Stadium. Year five is make or break for Rich Rod, and BYU is never an easy out. We shall see on that. Notre Dame/Texas and Ole Miss/FSU are featured Sunday and Monday games respectively; I'll go with the favorites in both.

Some interesting cut downs in the NFL today. Kap stays on the Niners (but they did cut Jim Whit's favorite, Jeff Driskel), but Sanchez was released by the Broncs and is already in Dallas. Sanchez is better than the current backup for rookie Dak Prescott, but the Cowboys better hope the rook is as good as he looked in preseason. But regular season NFL defenses are another thing, and the Cowboys may be in serious trouble. The Packers cut Josh Sitton, a very good O-Lineman and the Ravens Justin Forsett, very recently a 1,300 yard starting RB. Both are a little stunning.

The Jets are keeping four QB's on their roster, and it is not clear that any of them are really winners. But that's the Jets Jets Jets. And then there is the Pats, who have only four receivers on their 53 man roster, and two of them Amendola and rookie Malcomb Mitchell have injury issues as the season starts. So, it is not real clear who exactly Jimmy G will be throwing to while Brady whiles away his time cheering for the Wolverweenies. Of course, having a couple of tight ends like Gronk and Bennett sure helps things. And undrafted free agent DJ Foster, from ASU, who looked good in pre-season, is very adept at the slot from his college days and has a little experience outside to boot.

So, as I update this post, UCLA and the Aggies are in overtime and Phred's Wisconsin Badgers have completed the upset of LSU. Tough start to the new season for Les Miles and the Ess Eee See. Let's hope there is some well deserved hurt put on the Bama Tide later on tonight. Well, that is it. Thanks to Marcy for getting up a stub post while I was cavorting about. It remains in its entirety below. Music is a very early live take by the Stones of Mercy Mercy. It is very tasty.

The real (college) football has already started and yet Mr. bmaz says he has better things to do than post a Trash Talk.

So I've decided that since 1) Brady has donned a classic 90s hair doo so he looks like he did when he and I were both Wolverineenies 2) he's headed back to his our stomping grounds to honorarily lead the team while he's prohibited to even show up in Foxboro 3) Jim has already been yapping his mouth about the Ess Ee See, I thought I'd make this the first of a series of four tributes to Tommy, until Mr. bmaz gets around to posting something more substantive.

In another very important development, the FBI has just revealed that Hillary will have to stay away from the White House during her first four months as President because she was exonerated on the underlying crime but destroyed a few phones.

(U//~~FOUO~~) FBI investigation identified 13 total mobile devices, associated with her two known phone numbers, 212 [redacted] and 212 [redacted] which potentially were used to send e-mails using Clinton's clintonemail.com e-mail addresses.¹³³ Investigation determined Clinton used in succession 11 e-mail capable BlackBerry mobile devices associated with 212 [redacted] eight of which she used during her tenure as Secretary of State.¹³⁴ Investigation identified Clinton used two e-mail capable mobile devices associated with 212 [redacted] after her tenure.¹³⁵ On ¹³³ (U//~~FOUO~~) During his interview with the FBI, Cooper was mistakenly shown "202 [redacted]" as the second phone number. Cooper recognized the phone number as Clinton's second number, however the correct phone number is 212 [redacted].

¹³⁴ (U//~~FOUO~~) AT&T toll records associated with 212 [redacted] indicated the number was consistently used for phone calls in 2009 and then used sporadically through the duration of Clinton's tenure and the years following. Records also showed that no BlackBerry devices were associated with this phone number.

February 9, 2016, DOJ requested all 13 mobile devices from Williams & Connolly.¹³⁶ Williams & Connolly replied on February 22, 2016 that they were unable to locate any of these devices.¹³⁷ As a result, the FBI was unable to acquire or forensically examine any of these 13 mobile devices.

This may or may not mean Tommy Brady is bound to become President sometime later in life.
