

SUPERB OWL TYPES: CHECK IN HERE FOR NOTALLFOOTBALL

Yeah, me, too – I can't do football tonight. Once the Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers were knocked out of the running, I didn't have a horse in the race any longer and couldn't muster the whatev to bother following the limp ball debacle.

Instead of watching the game, I'm going to knock something off my To-Be-Watched List this evening. At the top is television series Black Mirror, Season 1, produced by Channel 4 in the UK. It's been a while since I watched some speculative/sci-fi television, and I've heard a LOT of great things about this series from people whose opinions I respect.

Season 1 is available via YouTube; Seasons 1 and 2 are available to stream now on Netflix.

If you're not watching the Super Bowl, what are you doing this evening (or very early morning on the other side of the dateline)?