

THE TRUMP TEAM STRATEGIC ERRORS: ROCKETS INSTEAD BURSTING IN AIR

Back in March, Paul Manafort refused to waive venue on the charges based in VA, which led to two trials. It was, at least in part, a bid to separate the easier tax charges from the more exotic FARA ones, and to get before more friendly jurors. It doesn't appear to have worked.