

HOW RICHARD BARNETT COULD DELAY RESOURCING OF THE TRUMP INVESTIGATION

One the day before Jack Smith was appointed Special Counsel, DOJ objected to any delay in Richard Barnett's December 12 trial. Four days after the appointment, DOJ decided they'd be happy to have the delay on account of an "anticipated change in government trial counsel."