TRUMP AND SOUTHERN GOVERNORS TEAM UP TO KILL REPUBLICAN VOTERS

The New York Times analysis of when counties shut down average travel below two miles a day has a remarkable similarity to voting by county in the 2016 presidential election. The implication from these data is that Trump and southern governors are selectively killing Republican voters in the South.