

FOUR OF SEVEN DWARVES: CONSISTENT, COURAGE, RESOLUTE, CHEERFUL

"Consistent" (Paul), "Courage" (Santorum?!),
"Resolute" (Willard), "Cheerful" (Newt)

Those are the one word answers the GOP candidates gave CNN's John King to explain themselves.

All I could think of where the seven dwarves remaining. (Bachmann? Crazy. Perry? Dummy. Cain?
Slutty.)

That said, I'm not sure what service men and women think of Santorum claiming credit, presumably for his socially restrictive policies
while never serving, is all that courageous. And Willard? "Resolute"? I guess that's Mormon for "multiple choice," right?

These people are clearly all too delusional to have their finger on the nuclear button.
